

The Creative Journey From Idea To Screen

P.O.Box 101 | Woodstock • 7915 +27 (0)21 788 2442 www.artubuntu.org

ARTS AND UBUNTU TRUST

Reg No: IT2854/2005 NPO 047-760-NPO PBO 930023739

The South African Arts past and present Project is a project of the Arts and Ubuntu trust which will:

- Make a series of short films on visual art, literature and music. The films will feature artists, writers, musicians as well as art forms and aesthetics. These will fill gaps in arts heritage knowledge and expose South African aesthetics to a national audience via a network of community art centres and television screenings. The films and their accompanying written materials will be available for educational use.
- Before and after the production the trust will run training workshops at selected community art centres nationally. The first round will provide capacity building in conceptualization and the last will launch the films to audiences of artists, students, arts and culture teachers.
- In the course of production there will be a number of on the job training opportunities in research and film-making for the arts.
- Throughout the process the trust's web-site will keep the public abreast of progress on the project.

PARTNERS:

- Renowned artists, writers, intellectuals, musicians and educationists in the arts.
- Arts Institutions: Community Art centres, galleries, museums, schools and arts organisations, provincial arts departments.
- Film companies and film directors run by black South Africans (Ibn Batuta Enterprises, Lethlabile Productions).
- Social media interactivity.

funded by

